Need help to prepare for, respond to, or recover from a public health emergency?
WE CAN DO THAT!

What We Offer

Whether helping hospitals expand medical surge capacity for hurricane response or evaluating medical countermeasures planning, ORAU helps customers prepare for and respond to public health events and natural disasters.

- Community capacity building and medical surge planning
- Medical countermeasures planning
- Risk communication planning and support
- Research and evaluation
- Exercise and drill design, facilitation and evaluation
- Emergency response support and training
- Automation of emergency management processes
- Preparedness program and material development (guidance, workshops, toolkits, mobile apps, etc.)

Why ORAU

- Evidence-Based Solutions— For federal agency customers, such as the CDC, U.S. Department of Health & Human Services Office of the Assistant Secretary for Preparedness and Response (ASPR) and the U.S. Department of Veterans Affairs, to local community health departments, ORAU provides evidence-based solutions tailored to help them prepare for, respond to, and recover from all types of public health and healthcare emergencies.

- Decades of Real-World Experience— ORAU possesses more than three decades of real-world operational experience supporting national and global preparedness programs and responses, such as:
  - Ebola Response in the U.S. and West Africa
  - Natural Disasters
  - Pandemic Flu
  - Terrorism
  - Zika Outbreak

- Integrated Approach— Our experts make sure public health, health care, emergency medical services and emergency management work together to provide the right care at the right time. This integration helps agencies reduce duplication and meet increased demands when an emergency occurs.
